The urgent need for new housing

Every council is required to make enough housing land available and to make positive planning decisions. This is so everyone is afforded the opportunity of a decent home by delivering a wide choice in sustainable locations. Basingstoke Council does not presently have the required amount of housing land so are not planning enough homes for families, young people or the elderly. This housing need will not disappear. Approval of this development will help address the shortfall of housing within the Borough in a sustainable location, contributing to the vitality and vibrancy of the village community and economy.

Why is the site suitable for development?

Bramley is identified by the Council in the emerging Local Plan to deliver at least 200 homes. The site is well located and has good access to existing community facilities and the local public transport network.
